NEAT, CHEAP AND QUICK, BY

GEORGE LOVETT. Main Street, opposite N. Loeb's. Mackerel Catching off Cape Ann.

The tanckerel catchers are vessels of the same rig, townage, and lading as the cod-fishers except that in them the seine takes the place of the trawl. scene of their operations rather wider, too, is they meet the mackerel on their appearance to the spring as far north as Virginia, and follow them to the shores of Greenland and Jecland. George's Basic, in the open sea about 150 miles off Cape Ann, and the Dominion waters are, however the favorite fishing When one of these vessels reaches the spot where her prey may be taken, a sharp watch is kept for schools which may be usen playing about on the surface; old salts aver that they can smell a school of mackoret as well as menhaden. When one is eighted, the listle-sames of the crew gives way to animation. The curse seine, coiled on the after-batch, is bastily thrown to the asimulant, which has been bowing astern since the vessel left part. Two dories are let down, and, is company with the scine-lead, row out toward the school. At the proper time the scine-leas gives the word, the two dories take an end of the scine, some 150 fethers in bandh, and in these 250 firthous in length, and in three minutes cuclese the school. Then the schooler is "passed," and the schooler is signalled to come along-side. There are 500 burrels of large. fat mackerel in the "purse." method of transferring them to the ressel is much like that practiced by the menhaden steamers. A large dip-net, with long handle, worked by inclaling, is let down into the struggling mass, and throws them on the vessel's dock by the half-barrel. This done, the operation of "dress-ing down" begins by throwing the eatch into a square trough; twelv men of the erew of tourteen the attack them with knives, dexterously open them by a slit down the back, and elem them at a stroke, they are then washed, associed into various grades necording to size and fatness, and packed in barrels, one barrel of Liverpool salt being required for four barrels of fish. So rapidly do they work that forty-seven be have been cleaned and packed in two hours and a half. Meantime two men have been overhanding the seine, repairing it where a shock or binefish has made a rent, and the man are ready for another had or securing a barrel. The story told by the Cologne to King Alfonzo became honorary Colonel of the Uldans stationed at Stras-burg, if not true, is at least well invented. There were two regiments of Uhlans available it seems, and the uniforms of both were submitted to the king, who preferred the one with yellow cuffs to that with white cuffs, and the one he preferred happened to be quartered at Strasburg
